

The MODEL

Seventh and Washington.

Men's and Young Men's

OVERCOATS

That this is the Overcoat store of St. Louis there can be no question. The magnitude of our stocks and our greater values prove it.

We call special attention to the line at $14.75.

Materials:

Fancy Scotches, single or double breasted, with or without belt; also black and gray Friezes, Meltons and Kerseys; medium and long lengths; tailoring, linings and trimmings first-class.

We have all sizes for men and young men, regulars, stouts and slims.

Choose to-day, as your fancy dictates, at $14.75

See Windows

The MODEL

Seventh and Washington.

PURSE SNATCHED WHILE IN STORE

Man Grabs Mrs. Edith Baker's Purse While She Is Talking to Nicely Dressed Woman in Downtown Store.

While talking to a well-dressed woman stranger, who wore diamond rings, Mrs. Edith Baker of No. 309 Brooklyn street had her pocketbook containing $15 in money and several rings valued at more than $100 snatched from her by a thief yesterday morning shortly after 11 o'clock.

The pocketbook was snatched from Mrs. Baker's hand by a well-dressed man while she was talking to the woman in a Broadway department store. The thief, who took the pocketbook, the man dashed out of the store, boarded a Broadway car and escaped.

Mrs. Baker visited the store to do some shopping. She was talking to a well-dressed woman who was also looking at Broadway samples.

"Oh my, what a beautiful sample," said the woman, attracting Mrs. Baker's attention.

No sooner had Mrs. Baker turned to inspect the sample than her purse, which was being held in her right hand, was snatched.

Mrs. Baker screamed but the thief had disappeared through the front door through the glass windows. Mrs. Baker saw him get on the car and escape.

If you have never tried the Bitters you really ought to do so to-day. Then you will realize what a wonderful medicine it is for curing Sour Risings, Heartburn, Poor Appetite, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Female Ills, Colds or Grippe. The genuine has our Private Stamp over neck.

Catarrh One of the Blood Diseases

No matter where it manifests itself, whether in the nose, throat, stomach, bowels or more delicate organs, catarrh is a blood disease, because it depends on an impure condition of the blood, and must be treated with a blood medicine for a radical and permanent cure.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the most effective of all blood medicines, is found to be the most successful in the treatment of this common but really serious disease. It purifies the blood, gives strength and tone to the stomach and other digestive organs and builds up the whole system. It radically and permanently cures.

The most easily aggravated and rapidly developed form of Catarrh is Nasal Catarrh, in the treatment of which Hood's Sarsaparilla is greatly aided by the pleasant antiseptic tablets known as Catarilets, a solution of which is applied by douche or snuffed up the nose from the hand, and affords prompt relief.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

All druggists, Catarilets, druggists, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price, 50c. C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

FEDERAL PRISONER IS RESENTENCED

Removal of Thomas Ryan Will Be First Instance in Missouri of Sending Such Offender to United States Prison.

For the first time in the history of the State a Federal prisoner was yesterday resented. The prisoner was Thomas Ryan, Kansas City, November 1, was sentenced in the United States District Court to fourteen months in the State Penitentiary.

He yesterday received the same period of service in the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kas. The State sentence was revoked.

The action was taken in pursuance of an order issued by the Attorney General directing the District Attorney to apply to the Federal Court for an order by which Federal prisoners would, in the future, be sent to the State penitentiaries.

Some time this week a caravan of prisoners will be transferred from the Missouri prison to Fort Leavenworth.

That this is the case is due to the fact that the State Penitentiary is in an embarrassing financial condition in the general opinion. In recent past, the Government has been the keeper of Federal institutions for the keep of Federal prisoners, and their removal will mean a curtailment of income to the State.

That this is the case is due to the fact that the State Penitentiary is in an embarrassing financial condition in the general opinion. In recent past, the Government has been the keeper of Federal institutions for the keep of Federal prisoners, and their removal will mean a curtailment of income to the State.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

On cross-examination he explained Meriwether's unpopularity with the members of the branch, who called him "the old dog" and "the old fool."

Ralph Yeager, the misfitman who had come to Branch's room with Meriwether, was the next witness, and while his testimony was to sustain the new theory that of Meriwether had done something which he had not done.

</